TEMCOR NAMED MANUFACTURER OF THE YEAR
BY THE STATE OF GEORGIA

GARDENA, CA April 26, 2007 – Temcor, the world’s largest Aluminum Dome builder, has been recognized by the state of Georgia as manufacturer of the year in the small-size category . The award was given through a partnership of the Georgia Department of Economic Development and the Georgia Department of Technical and Adult Education. Temcor is headquartered in Southern California and opened their state-of-the-art manufacturing facility in Rincon, Georgia in 2001.

In a ceremony held recently, Leland A. Sanders, Temcor’s vice president of manufacturing was presented the award by Georgia Governor Sonny Perdue. Sanders dedicated the award to the late Walter G. Mitchell, Temcor’s founder who passed away earlier this year.

From a pool of 100 companies, Temcor was singled out for its contributions to the local community since operations began six years ago.

Temcor has been building aluminum domes and other structures for more than 40 years and has more than 7,000 installations throughout the world in industries as varied as petroleum, bulk storage and wastewater .
